Jumpstart Your Journey from Student to Professional!

Start developing the roadmap for your future in public relations by joining fellow PR students and soon-to-be professional peers at the 73rd annual Florida Public Relations Association state conference titled...PR2011: The Evolution of Public Relations.

Tailored specifically to meet the needs of today's PR students, the Student Track at this year's state conference will be held on Tuesday, August 9th and will offer sessions identified by students to help you evolve from PR student to PR professional in the very near future.

Join us to learn about:

- Landing that all important first job
- Careers in public relations
- The integration of social media and public relations

You'll also have the opportunity to:

- Link with a professional mentor during the conference
- Network with PR professionals and learn first-hand about working in PR
- Hear from industry experts in small group settings
- Walk away with new contacts and energized for your journey from PR student to professional.

Many professional FPRA chapters offer conference scholarships for students. Be sure to check with your local professional chapter for information.

Additional conference information will be coming your way shortly.
